Welcome to Pacific Theological College Education by Extension

PTCEE started in 1996. We offer programmes of study leading to a Certificate and Diploma in Theological Studies. Students complete the Certificate before moving on to the Diploma. Certificate courses are credited towards the Diploma.

We also offer a Bachelor degree. Please ask for a separate brochure.

PTCEE produces study materials and posts them to students with text books and study aids for each course. Students complete various learning activities then return their assignments to PTCEE. Lecturers assess them and return them with comments.

Who can study With PTCEE?

Our programmes are designed both for lay people and for those who believe God is calling them to ordained ministry. Our students range from homemakers to accountants, from teachers to pastors, from prisoners to police officers.

It is easier to study by correspondence if you have completed secondary school. However, some people have qualified to enrol in the Certificate because of other experience or training. The most important qualification you need to study with us is a strong desire to strengthen your Christian faith and develop your skills for ministry, plus the self-discipline for regular study. (Different admission criteria apply for the BD). If you have already studied Theology at another institution, you may be able to gain some cross-credit.

How much does it Cost? (Prices are in Fijian $)

One-time registration fee $50. $200 for each 10-credit-point course in the Certificate and Diploma. (If collected from the Suva office $150)

Degree courses cost more (see the BD brochure).

PTCEE depends on the support of the Pacific Theological College, the Pacific Churches and our overseas partners so that we can keep our fees affordable.

Support for Students

We always hope the local church will support any members who are studying by extension, by showing an interest in their studies and praying for them. We believe that it is important for students to have someone to discuss their studies with them, so that they can understand better and learn to express their ideas in their first language. The best way is to have 3 or 4 people all studying the same course, so that they can meet together and talk about their lessons.

But if someone is studying alone it is good to have a mentor who agrees to meet faithfully with the student for 1 hour each week. PTCEE asks the student and their church to find a mature Christian who is willing to volunteer in this way. It is good if the mentor has done some theological training themselves, so they can help if the student has problems understanding the course book or the text book. But it is more important that the mentor is a good listener who can encourage the student to talk about their studies and how they can apply their learning in their lives and their ministry.

Markers and PTCEE staff are also very willing to help students. By phone, e-mail or Skype. Local tutorials are held at PTC during term-time if Extension students are local to the campus.
